ZAPANJ Visits the MET to view the Cyrus Cylinder Exhibit

The Cyrus Cylinder is an ancient clay cylinder, now broken into several fragments, on which is written a declaration in Akkadian cuneiform script in the name of the Achaemenid king Cyrus the Great. It dates from the 6th century BC and was discovered in the ruins of Babylon in Mesopotamia in 1879. It is currently in the possession of the British Museum, which sponsored the expedition that discovered the cylinder.

The Cyrus Cylinder is on a multi-city tour in the USA and taking advantage of this opportunity, the Zoroastrian Association of Pennsylvania and New Jersey (ZAPANJ) decided to take its members, both the young and the young-at-heart, on a day trip to the MET Museum where the cylinder was currently being displayed. On July 20, 2013, around 50 adults and children from ZAPANJ piled into a bus to view the Cyrus Cylinder at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. ZAPANJ hoped to use this opportunity to learn and understand and also inform our youth about its cultural heritage and historical significance.

Everyone spent some time taking in the different artifacts surrounding the Cyrus Cylinder case and reading up on its historical uses. The Cylinder, itself being heavily guarded, was very awe-inspiring in its entirety. One thought running in everyone's mind was how a small cylinder could encompass such great thoughts of wisdom and practicality. That Cyrus the Great could visualize and bring in practice such thoughts and deeds at that long-ago time, and that such thoughts can have an impact on our lives in the present, was truly amazing! Many were left reminiscing about what has been described as perhaps the 'first charter of human rights'!!

No bawa outing is complete without the traditional pora-pau, chutney, chicken, ham & cheese sandwiches, and various other delicacies, which were enjoyed along the way! At the end of the day, everyone had an interesting & informative trip! □

FOOD CONNECTIONS

Cuisine for a Cause

A unique cookbook that includes recipes of two kinds – the traditional gastronomic variety, and the ones that make up the philanthropic success stories that Parsis are equally renowned for. In all, the book profiles 37 non-profit organizations which Parsis have founded, head, or are part of.

From noted dancers Shiamak Davar and Astad Deboo, to female philanthropists like Rati Forbes and Anu Aga and much-loved institutions like Sir Ratan Tata Trust (RTI) and Women's India Trust, they all share their insights on giving and contribute favorite Parsi recipes.

Additionally, the book has a special treat for fans of the legendary Parsi 'Lagan Nu Patru,' the wedding meal, that owes its fame as much to the legions of skilled wedding caterers as to the delectable nature of Parsi food. It chronicles the life and times of Tanaz Godiwalla, Kaizad Patel and Kurush Dalal, three exemplars of this profession, and also gets them to share their signature recipes.

The book is now available for Just Rs.500/-. To place an order, email: kainuhavespirit@gmail.com

ZYNA Team Building Retreat Recap

"Delegates of the 2013 Young Professionals Team Building Retreat came from geographically near and far. The majority of attendees had never attended a congress or FEZANA event, or anything of the sort. To get-to-know one another Ice-Breakers, Team Building Challenges, and Excursions were implemented to develop as a team. This sense of responsibility of a team went far and created a sense of accountability to one another. As this occurred the mentality shifted and transitioned from "me" to "we." Ultimately, we came to the retreat as individuals and left as a team. "

-- Behrose Taraporewalla, ZYNA Chair

Delegates from Texas, Chicago, Oregon, California, Georgia, New York, and British Columbia gathered on July 19-21, 2013, in Vancouver for a retreat that brought young professionals between the ages of 25-45 years of age together. The purpose of the retreat was to promote "unity" within the cohort of our religious "community." The weekend's events included, but were not limited to a "Meet and Greet" Dinner Cruise, First Nations Welcome, Team Challenges, a Grouse Mountain Zipline adventure, a Networking Dinner and much more. □

Message from NAZC 2014 Organizers

Dear fellow Zarathushtis,

As we look forward to the beginning of a New Year on August 18th, I wanted to reach out to you all and wish you the best for the New Year. Saal Mubarak!

Here in Southern California, I am feeling tremendously optimistic about the future of our community. You see we are in the throes of preparing for the XVII North American Zoroastrian Congress. Hosted by the Zoroastrian Association of California (ZAC) in coordination with the California Zoroastrian Center (CZC), the Congress will be held in Los Angeles, from December 29-31, 2014. The spirit of dedication, camaraderie and fellowship with which we -- Parsis, Iranians, young, old, liberal, conservative, ZAC members, CZC members -- Zarathushtis all -- are working together suggests that this Congress will indeed live up to its theme: Faith and Unity. We are living this mantra everyday as we work together; and for me, that presents great reason for optimism about the bright future of our community.

On behalf of the ZAC and the CZC community, I would like to invite you to attend the Congress.

To raise awareness about it, our volunteers have created this video: <http://youtu.be/dbBGVoxEAvU>

Please show this video to your community members at your local Navroz function, or email it with this invitation to them.

Best wishes,
Tehmi Damania, ZAC President

ZAC and CZC Kick Off Fundraising for NAZC 2014 in Bollywood Style

Fundraising for the XVII North American Zoroastrian Congress got underway on July 20, 2013 as volunteers from the Zoroastrian Association of California (ZAC) and the California Zoroastrian Center (CZC) worked together to put on a fantastic Gala. Members of both associations and their friends turned out to support a good cause.

The evening featured a Bollywood Spectacular by Nauzad Sadry, Rhea Pandit and Kainaaz Pandit. The trio backed by DJ Zubin (Chichgar) gave a performance that was the perfect blend of nostalgia and pure energy. The dance floor seemed to shrink in size as everyone got up to dance the night away.

As guests sat down for a sumptuous feast, Farida Lakdawala, who with her husband, Khushroo Lakdawala spearheaded the planning of this event, took the stage to thank everyone for their generous support of the Congress and our community. "...In December 2014, ZAC and CZC are co-hosting the Seventeenth North American Zoroastrian Congress. The Congress will bring together Zoroastrians from all over the world for an exchange of ideas concerning the perpetuation, in harmony, of our community in North America. The theme of our Congress is Faith and Unity. To host a Congress, with an attendance of about a 1000 people, is a big deal for a small community like ours. And to pay for it, is an even bigger deal!" she said, amidst laughter and general agreement from the audience, who took up the challenge and participated enthusiastically in all the fundraisers run during the evening.

Jim Lakdawalla and Saleem Bakza then conducted a live auction of three original limited edition canvas prints of paintings by Pakistani artist, Jimmy Engineer. The bidding for the auction was a fun and lively affair, with the auctioneers adding just enough mirch-masala to the proceedings to make this an interesting part of the evening. Before long, amidst much good cheer, all three prints were sold!

A silent auction of jewelry and other donated items was also held during the evening, along with a raffle. Once the winners of these fundraisers were announced, the singers took the stage again, for another round of dancing that left everyone jubilant (and out of breath with excitement!) by the end of the evening.

When the accounting was completed, it was concluded that the Gala was indeed a successful fundraiser for the Congress. But more than just meeting the expectations set for it as a fundraiser, this festive event exceeded expectations in terms of the cooperation and support members of three different local area associations showed to make this a successful event.

Echoing the sentiments of many who witnessed the coming together of this amazing evening, Shida Anoshiravani, President of the CZC and NAZC 2014 Committee member, said "If this was an indication of our future efforts, we all should feel quite hopeful for a very successful Congress next year!" □
